At the Free Synagegue in Carnegie is all in the morning Rabbi Stephen S. Wise spoke on "Abraham Lincoln and George Washington. Who knows whether another Lincoln shall not arise in this 10,000,000 noople."

"It is inevitable that whenever American meeds another 'Abe' Lincoln care shall arise. He may not be of the simple, rugged type, hat may be one with all his wisdom and of the cultivated that downward by all human kind."

At Temple Beth-el at Fifth Avenue and Seventysixth Street, Rabbi Samuel Schulman sko spoke of Lincoln. "There is no man in the world's history who in his life has given such a censuring commentary upon the reasonableness of democracy," he said. "No see has so well illustrated the divine world with a vote said sent to each of the humblest son of the people.
